

Dear Families,

We are creating a class book called Our Recipe Book in which children write their recipe of something they already know how to make or something they would like to make. In school, we have read many recipes, written recipes and used recipes to make different foods. To support this work, please talk with your child about recipes they are interested in. You might ask some of the following questions to help generate ideas. Please jot down what your child says and send this information back to school. This will help them be prepared to share.

- What is something you are interested in making or cooking?
- What ingredients do you think you will need?
- What other tools do you think you might need?
- What would be the first step in your recipe? The next step?
- Why do you want to make that recipe?

Thank you for your support!
